Good evening, Parents and Guardians,

I'd like to introduce myself. My name is Jennifer Largan, and over the past six years I've had the privilege of serving in many roles within our democratic school system—from PPOs and Governing Boards to the New Frontiers School Board Parents' Committee, as a Parent Commissioner, and as a member of the Board of Directors for the Quebec English School Boards Association.

Through these experiences, I've learned one thing above all else: there has never been a more important time for parents and guardians to get involved. I've seen firsthand what can happen when parents and guardians come together with a shared goal—creating the best possible learning environment for every student. Our schools, and especially the English education system in Quebec, continue to face significant challenges. During times like these, the voices of parents and guardians matter more than ever. The decisions being made today will shape the future of our children's education, and those decisions need to include the perspectives of families.

You don't need a special background, experience, or education to make a difference. Governing Boards and Parent Committees are made up of parents and guardians from all walks of life. What matters most is that you care about children, your school, and your community. If you're considering joining your school's Governing Board, know that you won't be doing it alone. We offer Governing Board training every October to help new members feel confident and prepared, and I'm always available to answer your questions or offer guidance by email or phone. Every voice brings a unique perspective. Every experience has value. And every parent or guardian has the power to make a difference.

Together, we can protect, strengthen, and shape the future of public English education for all of our children. I hope you'll consider taking a seat at your Governing Board and Parents' Committee this year.

Thank you for your time,

Jennifer Largan
